

Looking for Laura: Public Criminology and Hot News

Media portrayals set the agenda for public discourse and popular debate. This superb book is an insider view of the construction of the news agenda for crime and punishment. It also contains analyses of media stereotypes, narratives, and depictions, together with insights that connect these to real life. Written by one of the UK's best-known and most innovative criminologists, the book builds on author David Wilson's experiences of covering high profile UK cases and populist issues for television, radio, newspapers, and other media. It also contains telling inside accounts of police-media relations at murder scenes.
