Mark was part of an elite squad training to be the next SEALs. The only problem was, Mark had sustained an injury to his knee that threatened to pull him out of the program before he could finish. Unsure how to change his fate, Mark goes to the infirmary to try and talk the doctor into giving him a full bill of health. What he finds when he arrives is a new doctor that is slightly older, but handsome. The new doctor seems to have an idea how to help Mark, but he must be willing to do some special testing to make sure he is fit and able. A chance meeting with Dr. Rhodes in the woods, guarantees the man his place in the program, but he finds out that one time will not be enough and the doctor will expect regular visits to keep up the charade. Mark can do nothing but agree, waiting for the next time he will be called to perform his new duties. Enjoy this 6,000+ word gay Navy SEAL military erotica, with steamy male/male action right now.
