

Sean Ellis: Kubrick The Dog

Kubrick, a Hungarian Vizsla, named after American film director Stanley Kubrick, was the most handsome and talented dog of all time--at least in the eyes of his owner, British photographer and filmmaker Sean Ellis. Thanks to his natural elegance, Kubrick was predestined to become a photo model, and soon he was posing alongside the worlds most famous models--and often stealing the show from them. Kubrick The Dog is a very personal scrapbook. It is a compilation of the best photos of Kubrick taken by Sean Ellis during the dogs 12-year life--from a clumsy puppy to a gray-haired adult marked by illness. British fashion designer Stella McCartney, who posed many times with Kubrick, wrote a small, moving text for her departed companion. Now available in a new, elegantly bound low-price edition.
