

The Untouchables: Irelands Criminal Assets Bureau and Its War on Organised Crime

For the first time ever, the inner workings of one of the most successful crime-fighting units in the world - Ireland's Criminal Assets Bureau (CAB) - are revealed. The Untouchables tells the extraordinary story of how CAB officers have travelled the world, tracking down the armed robbers, drug traffickers and brothel bosses, who could not be prosecuted in the criminal courts, and hitting them where it really hurts - in their pockets. It discloses the Bureau's operations against, the Monk, the Cork and Limerick gangs, the Foot and Mouth monster, the former justice minister, Ray Burke and top planning officer, George Redmond, the respected professionals who aid and abet the criminals and the crime lords legal fight to close the CAB down. The Untouchables exposes the Criminal Assets Bureau's incredible success story - in its war against some of the most dangerous criminals in the world.
