The four helping-human/ social service-counselor-nonprofit-caregiving job books deal with social-charitable-religious work (Christian, Catholic, Moslem, Jewish, Hindu, Buddhist, Sikh, Atheist, etc.), social assistance, therapy and the social service fields. Book 1. Helping Job Guide (Social Work-Counselor-Caregiver-Homecare-Human Service) Book 2. World Nonprofit-International Development Biz-Job Guide Book 3. World Volunteer Guide Book 4. Religious-New Age Job Guide Helpers are mostly people who help others one-on-one in: mental matters spiritual matters physical matters as in rehabilitation after injury or illness practical matters, get a house, get a job, start a business, etc. Police are in the security field. EMTs are in the medical field. Some helping occupational titles are as follows: clergy college and student personnel workers community outreach workers equal employment opportunity and affirmative action specialists guidance counselors human services workers mental health counselors occupational therapists occupational therapy assistants personnel workers physical therapy assistants and aides psychiatric aides psychiatrists psychologists religious workers social workers special education counselors training and employee development specialists There are jobs with: private for-profit companies, usually healthcare, homecare and assisted living nonprofit and charitable organizations governments at all levels, my list of government websites is in my government job job This book is the most comprehensive resource book on nonprofit, NGO, charity and international organizations in the world which means it contains multi-thousands of websites on these types of organizations. Having said that, Im very cynical about the nonprofit world because of my experiences with it. I feel that the needs of the world as in poor, homeless and unemployed people is urgent and desperate yet when I was involved in nonprofit, activist groups, there was something unsavory about a lot of the people I worked with. For them, it seemed to be like a leisurely, sociable game, kind of like a fun adventure while I was thinking there are seriously needy people that we should be fighting tooth and claw to help. When you get into this field, be ready for a lot of bureaucracy and hypocrisy. Getting a nonprofit job can be as hard, cutthroat and competitive as getting a job anywhere else. A nonprofit in the United States and in many other countries is a perfect cover for con-artists to make a lot of money tax-free. The people in this field might delude themselves into thinking they're morally better than everyone else but based on what I've seen, many are a bunch of lazy phonies who want a comfortable life. Nonprofits attract good, naive lost souls and they also attract wolves in sheep's clothing looking to exploit these good people. International Development is about the well being and improvement of quality of life for people. Many countries have international development and cooperation agencies. There are also companies that fulfill project requirements sponsored by national governments. The areas can include: Agriculture Democracy & Governance Economic growth and trade Environment Education & Training Global Health Humanitarian Assistance Gender equality Disaster preparedness National Agencies and Intergovernmental Organizations Get a degree in either business, public or international administration.
